

Individual reflection: Week 39

What do I want to learn or understand better?

At this moment I learned to read the documentation of what I'm using properly, I think that I'm still learning for every sprint because some of the tools or libraries we're using require an understanding to apply them correctly, and this triggers me to read the documentation of those tools. I also learned to do my tasks better and discuss them with my team in a proper way. The agile practices and scrum method made my workflow specifically and my way of doing my work generally much better. That had a big impact on my learning.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

When stuck, I always try to help my team members by first analysing the problem and then try to come with the best solution as possible, either with googling the problem or just by observing and then applying what I've learned in order to solve the issue and help my team

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

It's the same.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

As stated in the previous reflection, try to deliver on time, and even look at other team members' deliveries, in order to make sure that we're following our acceptance criteria and DoDs.
